DIVORCED FROM "LORD."

The [illegible] of the romantic marriage of pretty Louisiana Hobbs, of Lamberts Point, to the fake "Lord" Douglas, five years ago, was yesterday severed by Judge B. D. White, presiding in the Norfolk County Circuit Court, when he signed a decree divorcing Mrs. Douglas from the man who, masquerading as a scion of nobility, won her youthful heart, only to desert her.

The decree gives the wife the right to resume her maiden name and also places her child in her custody. Miss Hobbs is now and has been for more than three years living with her parents at Lamberts Point.

Miss Hobbs was married to "Lord" Oswald Reginald Douglas at Portsmouth September 29, 1903. In applying for the marriage license Douglas told the clerk of the court that he was a native of Glasgow, Scotland. He gave his age at 31 years. Miss Hobbs was 21.

In her bill of complaint, Mrs. Douglas stated that she and her husband lived together until September 28, 1904, when he deserted her in Dinuba, Cal., ostensibly for the purpose of going to Egypt on a business trip. She heard from him by letter October 3, 1904, but the envelope bore the postmark Jersey City, N. J. The wife states she does not know whether he is alive or dead.

Miss Hobbs met Douglas only a few weeks before she became his wife. He represented himself to her as a "lord," and said that he owned land and possessed a fortune abroad, which representations have been proven false. She says she was influenced by the representations to elope with him and be married.

Soon after their marriage they left on an extended trip to Mexico, California and Japan. They returned together as far as Dinuba, and there he began mistreating her. She alleges that daily she feared he would do her bodily harm.

Douglas left his wife penniless in Dinuba at the home of A. L. Dickey, a stranger to her. Sometime after she was sent money from her relatives in Norfolk to purchase transportation home. While en route she was taken ill at Houston, Tex., where a child was born to her. Recovering from the illness the trip homeward was resumed, and since then she has resided with her mother, at Lamberts Point.

Numerous reports have become current concerning the fake "Lord" Douglas since he deserted his wife. The last report was that he had died of consumption.

SUFFRAGETTE DEMONISTRATION.

Modern London has never witnessed a more extraordinary spectacle than last night's demonstration by the suffragettes.

For three or four hours a vast multitude of men and women besieged the House of Commons. Five thousand policemen had their energies tested to the utmost to protect the precincts of Westminister from the invasion. A small fleet of police boats was stationed on the Thames to ward off attacks by water. The land forces, including all the mounted men of the metropolis, had the warmest time since the Trafalgar Square riots, twenty years ago.

It was the largest assemblage seen in Parliament Square and vicinity within living memory. It was not a violent demonstration, but those who took part in it were so persistent that some rough work was unavoidable, and the air was filled from time to time with the shrieks and screams of women who were being crushed by the charges of the police, afoot and mounted.

There were many arrests. Those held number twenty-nine, all women. Two are charged with breaking windows in Premier Asquith's official residence in Downing street. The others are charged with obstructing the police.

This culmination of the militant suffragette party's agitation was the outcome of Premier Asquith's suggestion that the women of England had not shown any intense desire for the suffrage. Mrs. Pankhurst's cohorts replied that they will prove the contrary. They met at Coxton Hall yesterday afternoon and sent a delegation of twelve women, Mrs. Pankhurst at their head, to see Prime Minister Asquith. He refused to see them and sent word to them to put their demands in writing. They returned to the hall with grim determination showing in their faces and hot words on their tongues. Mrs. Pankhurst declared the hour had come to show their strength.

Will Attack Women Wearing Sheath Gowns.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 30.—Carrie Nation declares she will not stand for the sheath gown. She says she will tear the "monstrosity" off the first woman she sees with one on. "The directoire or sheath dress is as dangerous to our young men as any of the dram shops," she says.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 1, 1908.

THE denial of former Governor Montague of the report that he had changed his political faith, and would stump the state for Mr. Taft, while a little delayed, by reason of his absence from his home in Richmond, was confidently expected by his friends and while causing them no surprise is a source of much gratification. The report had been industriously circulated but its flat denial by the former governor will put it to rest forever. No one who knows Mr. Montague believed the report for a moment, and the intimation that for a consideration he would forsake the party which had helped make and had so frequently honored him and for which he had done so much, carried with it its own denial. Mr. Montague is a brilliant and able man and there are yet more honors for him in his state and in his party. The ex-governor is a democrat ex animo and, of course, will continue to be such as long as his useful life shall be prolonged. The origin of such absurd reports as that concerning Mr. Montague affords food for speculation. They are probably conceived in most instances by people who might be tempted themselves to accept position or favor from the powers that be in exchange for their influence. Ex-Governor Montague, however, would doubtless be the last person in the state to entertain such a thought. He has labored earnestly in by-gone years for the maintenance of democratic principles, and is as positive now in his political creed as ever. As governor his services to the state were justly appreciated, and his many friends will always hail him as a representative Virginian, native and to the manner born one, in whom there is no variableness or even shadow of turning.

YESTERDAY ended the government's fiscal year. The figures show approximately that the Roosevelt administration has achieved a deficit of $60,000,000. The receipts for the year as compared with the previous year have fallen off $64,000,000; expenditures have increased $80,000,000, being even greater than during the time of the Spanish war. The country is keeping up a war stride in time of peace. It was no fault of the administration that disbursements were not heavier. Having reached a financial position where the complete dissipation of the surplus in the federal treasury is within hailing distance and the necessity for increased taxation foreshadowed, the people are airily assured by the party in power that there will be no change of policy. Old-fashioned notions of equal taxation and economic administration are out of date. "Economical administration be hanged!" is the cry of the hour. "We must have a standing army of 250,000 men and a two-ocean navy with which to protect our coasts and confront the powers." The Philadelphia Record says: "How much longer the people of the United States will shut their eyes and stand responsible for this sort of costly vanity is yet to be determined. They are feeling the pinch and are doing some thinking."

JUSTICE OLMSTED, of New York, tired of seeing the same bad boys before him day after day, has established a spanking room in the apartments above the Children's Court and detailed a police lieutenant to see that the court's orders are carried out by parents. The first victims were George and Benjamin Granville, nine and ten years old and declared incorrigible by their mother. The boys and their mother were sent to the spanking room, and in about three minutes unearthly yells descended into the court room, and shortly after the youthful Granvilles reappeared flushed and sobbing. The mother beamed on the court. "Find everything ready?" asked the justice; "straps, hair brushes and so on?" "Oh, yes, your honor," answered Mrs. Granville, "and the lieutenant was a great help." Spanking rooms might be established in every city in the country with profit to the community and great help to mothers.

THE contest between Governor Patterson and ex-Senator Carmack for the democratic nomination for governor of Tennessee is incidentally interesting for its bearing on the prohibition issue. Patterson, who was renominated, favored local option. Carmack stood for State-wide prohibition. The fight turned largely on the attitude of the contestants on the regulation of the liquor traffic, both men being able debaters. There were joint discussions in all parts of the State. The defeat of Carmack in Tennessee, of Hoke Smith in Georgia, and the failure of prohibitive legislation in Louisiana seem to indicate some subsidence of the agitation for extreme anti-liquor measures.

EVIDENCE of the conspiracy by which Philadelphia has been deprived of its share of the country's sugar refining business has been brought out in the [illegible] which closed on Monday before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington. Documents have been submitted, and are in the record showing that the trunk line railroads entered into an agreement with the American Sugar Refining Company, the trust, under which two-thirds of its product was to be refined in New York and but one third in Philadelphia, and now the latter city is raising a row.

As WILL be seen by an article published elsewhere, the West Virginia debt commission treats very lightly the matter of the settlement of their obligations with their creditors, and even say that should Virginia win in her suit the state could not recover. In a short time they will be whistling a different tune.

From Washington.

Washington, July 1.

Mr. William H. Taft, no longer bearing an official title for the first time in many years, formally transferred the affairs of the War Department to Secretary Luke Wright today, and gave himself over entirely to the work of training for the presidential race. At noon both the secretary and the ex-secretary were at the War Department. Secretary Wright already in touch with the departmental affairs and the main problems of Panama and Cuba took his oath of office and got into the harness. An informal reception followed, Mr. Taft introducing officers of the army and departmental chiefs who had not already met the secretary. At the same time Mr. Taft bade farewell to them. When he left the building he was smiling as usual, shaking hands all the way down the corridor with officers, clerks and messengers to whom his big figure had become familiar during his career at the head of the War Department. Mr. Taft did not at once plunge into politics. From his point of view the most important task of the day was to make ready for the departure to Hot Springs. In this operation he was a subordinate figure, full direction being assumed by Mrs. Taft. The family will leave Washington Friday at four o'clock on a special car. Secretary Wright will have no vexing problems to dispose of for several days at least. One of his first official acts will be the announcement of a chief of the engineering corps of the army to succeed General MacKenzie. This, in all probability, will be Colonel Marshall. General Wright and Secretary Taft arrived at the office about the same time shortly before 11 o'clock. They remained together until 12 o'clock discussing affairs of the department with various bureau chiefs. Secretary Taft did little business of importance. Some questions pertaining to the Philippines and Cuba were wound up before he stepped out of office.

Mr. Taft will have a conference this evening at his residence with Arthur L. Vorys. Mr. Taft will not see Mr. Hitchcock until tomorrow, when it is probable that both Hitchcock and Vorys will see him together. Mr. Taft stated that his last official act was the signing yesterday of the appointment of the four Philippine Commissioners. General Wright's first act was to sign the appointment of John C. Scofield, as assistant and chief clerk of the department.

With candidate Taft packing, Hitchcock uncommunicative and Postmaster General Meyer smilingly non-committal, the chairmanship question went a-begging today. The former secretary is playing the waiting game, quietly preparing to iron the wrinkles out of the Ohio political map before making an announcement. He has sat back and smiled expansively while Representative Burton has come out with the announcement that Vorys will be detailed to look after the Ohio campaign. This might have been a "feeler" to determine whether such a plan would be satisfactory to the Ohioans who are backing him, and how far it would go toward fortifying the republican stronghold, or it might not. In any event the impression prevails that Vorys will be out of it. If he is willing to accept the Ohio post he will probably tell his chief sometime today when he arrives in Washington. This leaves Hitchcock and Meyer with the odds on the former. His friends confidently expect that when the subcommittee meets Mr. Taft at Hot Springs on July 8, everything will be arraigned to this end. The probability is that the "ironing" process will have been completed and the decision made before the exodus for Hot Springs begins. This plan will be carried out unless some disturbing suggestion comes from Oyster Bay. The impression prevails that Hitchcock would be less acceptable to the president than the postmaster general because of the unfavorable comment against the "steam roller" methods he exercised in Chicago. Either one, however, will have the stamp of official approval. Mr. Taft's appointments for today include no conferences, which means that the public may expect no announcements.

Sylvanus E. Johnson, editorial writer and right hand man to John R. McLean in all his newspaper enterprises of late years, died at the Providence Hospital early this morning of uraemic poisoning. He was 67 years old. He was born in Jefferson county, Ohio.

The action of the president on the list of voluntary retirement of naval officers which was forwarded to him last night, was awaited with keen anxiety today. Considerable relief was manifested when it became known that the number of voluntary retirements was sufficiently large to preclude the necessity of any action on the part of the board of admirals in compulsorily retiring any officer.

Word has been received at the Navy Department of the death of Rear Admiral Charles H. Rockwell, at Chatam, Mass., today.

The first of the campaign books made its appearance today. Chairman Lloyd, of the democratic congressional committee, issued volume one, of democratic thunder, consisting of speeches called from the Congressional Record.

The crop reporting board of the Department of Agriculture estimates that on this date, condition of the cotton crop of the country averages 81.02 per cent of a normal. According to a statement made at the Treasury Department today the deficit for the fiscal year just ended was $59,656,861 20. This is the largest deficit since the civil war except the fiscal year 1894 when it reached $69,000,000 and the fiscal year 1899 when it was $89,000 000.

The cruiser Prarie, has sailed from Colon with 500 sailors, who are on their way home from the Atlantic fleet. She will arrive at Hampton roads the latter part of the week. The places of the men returning will be filled by the 800 sailors which the Prarie took to Panama some time ago and who were sent north to San Francisco on the Buffalo.

Bids for the three colliers, for the purchase of which congress appropriated $1,575,000 during its closing days, were opened at the Navy Department today. The lowest bid was that of the Maryland Steel Company, of Baltimore, which submitted a bid of $408,000 for one vessel, $397,000 for two and $395,000 for three.

George H. Daniels, for many years with the New York Central as general passenger agent, died at Lake Placid, N. Y., today.

The Alaskan-Yukon-Pacific Exposition has raised by subscription $1,000,000 and becomes entitled to the congressional appropriation of $600,000.

The Nashville division of the Southern Railroad today passed into the control of the Tennessee Central Railroad Company and will be operated by that company.

Representative Burton, after a conference yesterday with Secretary Taft, stated positively that Vorys will not be chairman of the national republican committee.

Bishop Brent left Manila yesterday for Boston to consult a specialist. If he is unable to retain his health in the tropics, he will accept the appointment to the Washington diocese.

Railroads entering Chicago were threatened with a strike by the Freight Handlers' Union last night unless within 24 hours the companies agreed to sign a year's wage agreement.

It is the general opinion among leaders of the party now in Denver that if Judge Gray, of Delaware, will declare his willingness to accept the second place on the ticket he can have it.

The sandstone columns which are being removed from the Fourteenth street portico of the Treasury Department in Washington probably will be utilized to build a pavilion for one of Washington's public parks.

Prompt denial was made at Oyster Bay today to a story printed in New York that President Roosevelt had purchased or was about to purchase a $1,000,000 property in New York on which to erect a city residence.

At the conference yesterday between Attorney General Bonaparte, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winthrop and Commissioner of Internal Revenue Capers it was decided to stoutly resist all efforts to either nullify or suspend the new internal revenue regulations changing the system of marking packages containing spirits.

Twenty-four men were carried down three stories by the collapse of the roof of a barn in Minneapolis yesterday afternoon and buried in the ruins. Within half an hour five had been rescued, all dangerously injured, and two crushed bodies had been taken out. It is not known how many were killed, but it is feared that at least ten lost their lives.

To save $10,000 with which to endow a charity institution, Victor Schmidt today is living in a cellar in Omaha at $1.50 per month and at a total rate of $75 a year. Schmidt, who is a well-known musician, is a German university graduate. By thrift he has accumulated $8,000 already. He will continue to live as at present until the necessary $10,000 is garnered in.

Angered by the sight of the lash being used on one of their number by the whipping boss, 130 negro convicts, in camp on the outskirts of Atlanta, mutinied yesterday afternoon, prevented the whipping, and then refused to work. Aid was summoned and a strong force of guards hurried to the camp and surrounded the convicts who are sitting on the ground in sullen defiance. Capt. Donaldson, superintendent of convicts, attempted to reason with them, but was driven out. The convicts swear they will be shot where they sit before returning to work unless better treatment is guaranteed.

AMERICAN SALVATION ARMY.

Following an investigation into the methods of the "American Salvation Army," Superintendent of Police McQuaid, of Pittsburg, Pa., has ordered the organization to quit its work in that city and has taken away their permit to hold street meetings and solicit money. Young girls, sometimes only sixteen and seventeen years old, it is declared, are ordered to go unaccompanied into drinking places, where they use their own methods. The police say the girls were given 25 per cent of the money obtained. Supt. McQuaid also charges that little trace of good, for which the army was supposed to be gathered, can be found. The American army is in no way connected with the regular Salvation Army.

The Lazy-Sleepy Disease.

Mount Vernon, N. Y. July 1.—Suffering with "uncinariasis," the scientific name of "lazy-sleepy" sickness, twelve members of the Masce family are quarantined here on the lawn of the Mount Vernon hospital. The sufferers from one of the rarest diseases known to science arrived here from Brazil about two months ago. They passed quarantine without molestation. The grave side of the disease in the Masce family is the fact that it is contagious. For that reason the family is in quarantine and will, it is asserted, be sent back to South America as soon as it is advisable. Impure water is the cause of the disease.

Virginia News.

Rev Claude T. Saunders, of Loudoun county, has accepted a call to Salem Baptist Church.

Mrs. Kate V. Hirst, widow of Charles Hirst, of Purcellville, Loudoun county, died at her home on Sunday, aged 52 years.

Mrs. Ida Reed Haley died at her home in Upperville on Sunday. She was sixty-one years old and the widow of R. D. Haley, of that place.

Robert L. O'Reilly, a native of Philadelphia, but a resident of Fairfax county, since the war, died suddenly at his home near New Baltimore yesterday. He was past 80 years.

Col. E. D. Cole, who has served Fredericksburg city as councilman for 27 years, resigned as president of that body Monday night, and Councilman W. E. Bradley was elected to succeed him.

Mr. William Hurt Campbell, of Richmond, and Miss Martha Elizabeth Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott Jones, formerly of Orange, but now of Charlottesville, were married Monday evening in the chapel at the University of Virginia by Rev. Dr. Carter Helm Jones, of Lynchburg.

Miss Clara Mary Tuttle, daughter of Prof. Albert H. Tuttle, of the chair of biology and agriculture in the University of Virginia, was married last night in the chapel of that institution to Mr William Ramsey Probasco, of New York city, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. B. Lee, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Charlottesville.

The smoldering dissatisfaction in Southern Methodist Church circles over the situation with reference to the Randolph-Macon system of colleges broke into open antagonism at the meeting of the official board of Central Church, Manchester, on Monday night when resolutions were adopted denouncing the trustees and calling upon the denomination at large to take like action.

WEST VIRGINIA'S DEBT.

A dispatch from Charlestown, W. Va., says:

The conference between the members of the Virginia debt commission and the board of public works, which took place in pursuance to the call of Governor Dawson, was not as fruitful as it was hoped for.

When the time for the meeting arrived there were only five members of the commission and two members of the board of public works present. The commission now numbers nine, five of the places being vacant by resignation. The four absent members sent in their regrets. Attorney General Conley and Attorneys Mollohan and McClinch, who represented West Virginia in the debt suit, met with those present, and the debt question was discussed. No action, however, was taken as there was no quorum present. Attorney Mollohan gave the commission the benefit of his knowledge of the case. He said that should the Supreme Court of the United States find against West Virginia, Virginia would be powerless to enforce the judgment. The final solution of the matter, he said, would be in the hands of the commission which would meet with the Virginia commission, and between them the matter would be settled. The Virginia commission, he said, was dominated by Wall street capitalists who have bought up the Virginia certificates. But few questions were asked by members of the commission and no advice was ventured. The next meeting will be called by the board of public works.

BLACK HAND AFTER PRIEST.

The main building of St. Bonaventure's College, at Olean, N. Y., was destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is estimated at $110,000, The Franciscan Fathers who conduct the institution cannot account for the origin of the fire, which started in a small room on the lower floor of the college.

About a month ago Father Joseph Butler received a threatening letter signed by the Black Hand. It said that unless $10,000 was placed in a certain spot the college building would be destroyed. No attention was paid to the letter. Belief now exists that it may have had something to do with the fire.

No one connected with the college had been in the room where the fire started for several days. The school year being over, the main building was empty. It was one of three buildings. The other two are a monastery and seminary in one and an alumni hall. The three lower floors of the school building were used as classrooms and the upper floor was fitted as a dormitory.

Indictments Against Mae C. Wood.

New York, July 1.—The grand jury returned two indictments against Mae C. Wood, whose sensational divorce proceedings against Senator Thomas C. Platt ended in the woman being thrown in jail for perjury. The indictments cover alleged charges of perjury and forgery in the third degree. It is alleged in the forgery indictment that Mae Wood forged a letter dated Washington wherein Senator Platt declared that he would soon acknowlege the woman as his wife. The complainant in both indictments is Senator Thomas C. Platt. Mae Wood is now out on $5,000 bail and her bondsmen were notified to produce her in court on Monday for arraignment.

Soldiers Poisoned.

Saigon, July 10.—In revenge for the discovery of the plot to capture the French garrison at Hanoi, Chinese rebel agitators slipped poison into the food of the soldiers and two hundred of them are in a serious condition. The rebels had laid careful plans to capture the garrison, seize the guns and ammunition and join the rebel uprising in the upper Tonquin district. The plot was thwarted through the vigilance of the soldiers and the poisoning followed. The uprising is still spreading and now extends throughout much of the Tonquin, upper Tonquid, Annan and Yunnan districts.

The Denver Convention.

Denver, July 1.—The impression still prevails among the Bryan men here that the ticket when made up will be Bryan and Gray notwithstanding the many "forecasts" recently made concerning the action of the approaching convention. They say the very fact that Gray's campaign managers called at Lincoln en route here and spent a pleasant afternoon with Bryan shows there is no ill-feeling.

The betting today in the hotel lobbies was 100 to 50 that Bryan would have at least 700 votes on the first ballot.

Today's Telegraphic News.

More Fighting in Persia.

St. Petersburg, July 1.—More then 200 contestants have already been killed and a bloody massacre is regarded as certain to have resulted at Tabriz, Persia, according to a dispatch received here this evening. The fighting it is said started last night when a large force of the shah's troops lay seized to Tabriz, a city of 175,000 population, which was in the hands of the revolutionists. The rebels put up a stubborn fight and stood the shah's forces off for several hours. The dispatch states that as night fell a general advance was ordered and the fall of the city is regarded as inevitable.

At this stage of the trouble all wire communication was cut off, and it is believed that the telegraph station was wrecked by a shell.

The shah's forces are under command of Rachin Khan, who is supported by several thousand Cossacks and horsemen. The forces are all irregulars and a massacre and pillage at Tabriz is certain to result if the city falls.

All day yesterday the revolutionists worked in the streets throwing up barricades and erecting temporary earthworks outside the city. They are without discipline, however, poorly armed and are not regarded as any match for Rachin Khan's semi-barbaric troopers.

A later report received here tonight from Teheran says that the shah is rushing additional troops to the support of the besiegers.

Bishop Potter's Condition.

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 1.—With the coming of today and no improvement manifest in his condition, all hope was given up for Bishop Potter. He had a restless night, and relatives today were notified that the end might come at any time.

Through last night the faint flicker of life in the aged prelate was kept up by oxygen. Today he is weaker than at any previous time and his death is looked for before sunset.

The bishop's mind is clear. He knows that death is near, but seems cheerful and aids so far as he may in the physicians' fight against the disease.

Bishop Potter's physicians issued the following bulletin today: "Bishop Potter's condition has not changed materially during the night. He is extremely weak, but responds fairly well to the measures used to keep up his strength."

Wrecked by Dynamite.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 1.—Two explosions of dynamite early today wrecked the Lehigh Valley Railroad viaduct at Selkirk and Perry streets, a four girder structure, resting upon five spans of reinforced concrete. A Lehigh train approaching was flagged just in time to prevent it from running on to the bridge. People in the neighborhood were blown out of bed by the force of the explosions, which came about twenty seconds apart. While there is no clue to the dynamiters, it is believed to have been done by disgruntled workmen. One man has been placed under arrest. The bridge was recently completed and carries the Lehigh Valley tracks over those of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Erie, Nickel Plate and Buffalo Creek railroads, all of which are blocked by debris this morning.

The Revolution in Mexico.

El Paso, Texas, July 1.—Several hundred Mexican soldiers from Casas Grande are today closing in on the band of fifty revolutionists that attacked Palomas, in Chihuahua. When the two forces meet it is believed that the revolutionists will be wiped out, as the soldiers have received orders not to attempt to arrest them.

Today is the date set for a general uprising in all of the northern states. While it is believed that the premature commencement of the hostilities has nipped the revolution in the bud, extreme precautions are being taken in scores of towns of northern Mexico. The citizens of these places have formed themselves into companies of soldiery.

Convict's Revenge.

New York, July 1.—Eager for revenge because he had served a nine-month the sentence at Blackwell's Island for smashing the window of the Berlin department store, Joseph Liston imperilled the lives of hundreds by setting fire to the same place within three hours of his release from the penitentiary. He is now due for another and longer term. Just out of prison Liston returned to the store and asked to see some lace curtains. As the saleswoman turned her back he threw a lighted match into the fabrics and in the panic that ensued fled. The girl's eye was on him, however, and he was caught after a hard fight while all around terrified women screamed and the store's employes fought the flames.

Judge Gray Declines.

Wilmington, Del., July 1.—Judge George Gray this morning made a statement declining the use of his name for the nomination for vice president in the democratic convention at Denver, and reiterating that he will not consent to being put in nomination for the presidency.

"As I have repeatedly said," Judge Gray's formal statement read, "I would not consent to being placed in nomination as a candidate for the presidency, I now say with equal emphasis that I will under circumstances content to a nomination for vice president."

Towne's Candidacy.

Lincoln, Neb., July 1.—Charles A. Towne, of New York is frankly out after the nomination as Bryan's running mate, and he is dead sure he will get it. "I am a candidate for the nomination," he said today, "and I shall be nominated. In the east I believe I am strong; in the west, everyone knows my strength." Towne arrived today to confer with Bryan and said he believed he could "fix it up" to get the nomination.

New York Stock Market.

New York, July 1.—The market opened dull and remained in a rut of dullness during the entire part of the first hour, but toward the end of that period some inside buying appeared. Union Pacific advanced one point; Reading 1-2; St. Paul 1-4 and Northern Pacific 5-8.

Prompt treatment of a slight attack of Diarrhoea will often prevent a serious sickness. The best known Remedy is DR. SETH ARNOLD'S BALSAM. Your apothecaries Frank Warfield and Henry Callan, warrant it to give satisfaction.

Senator Martin Will Not Go.

[Special dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

Richmond, Va., July 1.—Senator Thomas S. Martin, one of the big four elected at Roanoke to attend the Denver convention, will not go. The list of those who will leave in the Richmond party was given out today. When attention was called to the fact Senator Martin's name was not included it was said that the senator will remain at home owing to illness in his family.

Governor Swanson today declared to be unqualifiedly false the suggestion in the New York Herald that he had asked Bryan to be allowed to make one of the seconding speeches.

Suffragettes Sent to Prison.

London, July 1.—One thousand suffragettes, goaded to madness by the action of the police today attempted to rescue twenty-eight of the twenty-nine of their number who were arrested during last night's unprecedented demonstration in Parliament Square. These twenty-eight were in a prison van and were being hauled to prison when a mob of enraged women "rushed" the van just as it was leaving the court yard.

Expecting the attack, hundreds of policemen were hidden inside the court yard, and at the first movement by the suffragettes they rushed out and beat back the women. The van drove off at a mad gallop, the prisoners being assailed with cheers and shrieking good-byes from the baffled host behind.

The court gave the prisoners the option of being placed under peace bonds, running from $20 to $250, or going to prison for from one to three months. But one woman agreed to give bond, the others preferring the martyr role.

Before the trial of the women Mrs. Pankhurst, one of the leaders, held a conference with her lieutenants and it was decided to raid the police court in an effort to prevent the trials. They had charges drafted against the police, supported by scores of affidavits, showing that the police acted with unwarranted brutality in arresting the women and that scores had been injured by the police.

The suffragettes have decided to repeat last night's performance every night until parliament finally grants them the right of franchise.

A threat of dynamiting the home of Premier Asquith in Downing street was made today by Mary Leithe, a rampant suffragette. The Leithe woman and Edith New were today sentenced to two months at hard labor for breaking windows in the house of the premier. No sooner was the sentence imposed than Miss Leithe cried out: "It was stones this time but it will be bombs next." The judge threatened to increase her punishment but she was taken away declaring the women would be revenged on the premier.

Woman Murdered.

Chicago, July, 1.—The naked body of an unidentified woman, who had been strangled and beaten to death, was found just before noon today locked in a room in a boarding house at Twelfth street and Michigan avenue. The woman was bound and gagged and had evidently been dead three or four days. The police are looking for a man who brought the woman there and gave the name of J. H. Raymond and who disappeared Sunday. The woman was naked. The feet and arms were bound tightly with a rope, and a piece of rope was twisted so tightly around the neck as to have caused strangulation. There was a fracture of the skull, evidently made with some blunt instrument, and the head rested in a pool of blood. An examination of the room disclosed four purchase slips for $350 worth of jewelry. The police also found in the room two diamond rings and a diamond stick pin. Raymond is described as tall and about 35 years old. A sheet which was wrapped about the mouth was removed by the police this afternoon to get a better view of the woman's face. It was then found that a handkerchief had been stuffed in the mouth and far down into the throat. Finger marks were also found on the throat.

Refused Injunction.

Cincinnatti, Ohio, July 1.—The whisky compounding and blending industry of the United States was delivered a heavy defeat today by Federal Judge Sater in his fight against obeying the order of Revenue Commissioner Capers and the pure food department in relation to the labeling of a barrel of spirits. The decision was rendered in suit of the Clifton Springs Distillery Company against Internal Revenue Collector Bettmann and other officers to enjoin them from enforcing the new branding rule, which goes into effect today. Today Judge Sater gave his decision, refusing an injunction. Under the new ruling the first run of the "still" must be branded "high wine," that now known as spirits must be branded "alcohol" and that known as alcohol must be branded "commercial alcohol." The order goes further and says that "spirits" shall consist of such potable products as whisky, gin, brandy, etc. Distillers complain that the change in terms will have a disastrous effect upon the compounding and blending industry.

Expensive Defense.

New York, July 1.—That Raymond Hitchcock's recent trials on charges made by three young girls cost the actor $53,000 and that he is now appearing at the Circle Theater to repay $15,000 lent him by Felix Isman has been brought out in court here by an attempt by Henry W. Savage to prevent Hitchcock appearing under any other management than his own. Hitchcock's first trial, it was testified, left him "broke;" then Isman came to the rescue. Hitchcock will be allowed to appear for Isman until the action of Savage is decided.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING AT OLD TRINITY.

Miss Helen Eugenia Niemeyer, the attractive daughter of Mrs. Louise Niemeyer, of Swimming Point, was married to Mr. Charles Monroe Nash yesterday afternoon at Trinity Episcopal Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Thomson, rector of the Church.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, former State Senator John C. Niemeyer, wore a gown of white messaline, trimmed with princess lace and pearls, together with a veil and a coronet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Chandler Wigg, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore white organdy over green taffeta. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white peas and ferns.

Misses Mary Sedden, Elizabeth Old, Nancy Nash, Cecele Williams, Margaret Niemeyer and Bessie Emmerson were bridesmaids. They wore white Paris lawn with green sashes, and carried bouquets of white sweet peas and ferns. Little Miss Christine Niemeyer, who was attired in a dainty white frock and carried the bride roses, was flower girl.

Mr. Edward L. Kasemeier was Mr. Nash's best man.

The ceremony was witnessed by a large gathering of friends and relatives of the bride.

The church was artistically decorated with ferns, palms and white roses, and the family table was lighted with candles. The ushers were Messrs. J. Billsoly Hopkins, Charles Martin, Walter Darrell, T. Walter Mathews, George Bacot and R. Johnson Neely.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Nash left on an extended wedding tour north. They will be at home, No. 2, Swimming Point, after a two weeks' tour.

Among the out of town guests present were Lieut. and Mrs. Charles F. Nash, parents of the groom; Miss Julia A. Monroe, of Alexandria, and Miss Fanny J. Abbott, of Fairfax.—[Portsmouth Star, June 30.

THE UNKNOWN BURIED.

The body of the boy who was killed by a locomotive near the union station last Sunday night was buried this afternoon. The only clew that might lead to the identity of the lad was the label of a Charlotte (N. C.) tailor sewed in the inside pocket of his coat. The interment was made in Alexandria county, the youth having been killed outside the city limits.

A dispatch was received in this office yesterday afternoon from Charlotte, which stated that a rumor had reached there that a man named Bridges, of that place, had fallen from a train at Alexandria and been killed. The sender of the dispatch requested an immediate answer. It will be remembered that the manufacturer's tag on the pantaloons worn by the unfortunate youth stated that the garments were made for Dr. Bridges, of Charlotte. An answer to the dispatch was sent from this office.

Officer Sherwood went to Mr. B. Wheatley's undertaking establishment this morning and viewed the remains of the youth. He said the deceased appeared at the station house late Saturday night and asked to see Tim Madden and Charles Euten, the two men who had been arrested charged with assaulting Peyton Ballenger. The youth being under the influence of liquor his request was refused. It will be remembered that in the evidence before the Police Court it was stated that there was a third man with Madden and Euten who got away, Madden, who is now in jail, was also taken to the undertaking establishment that he might view the remains. Madden said he never saw him before.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Alice Gallahan, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed.

Bessie Littlejohn, colored, charged with contempt of court, was dismissed.

James Hunt, charged with spending $6 belonging to Bessie Littlejohn, was dismissed with the understanding that he is to reimburse the woman.

Frederick Parker and John Winston, both colored, charged with fighting, were fined $5.

Four small colored boys, charged with breaking glass in a house in the southwestern portion of the city, were dismissed with an admonition.

BURNING OF TUGBOAT JUNO.

The old tug Juno, employed for many years on the Potomac, and sold to parties at Charleston, S. C., last year, was destroyed by fire at Charleston recently. The Juno was in service as a tender to a dredging outfit at work deepening the channels to Charleston harbor when she was burned and so badly damaged that her owners will not rebuild her. The Juno was built by Capt. M. Kersey at this place in 1881. About five years ago, when the towing work on the river became slack, she was withdrawn from service and lay at the shipyard until last summer, when she was sold and taken south.

ENORMOUS SALE.

Notwithstanding the intense heat the number of people who are unable to secure what they want on account of the rush at the special three-day sale at D. Bendheim's & Sons is enormous. The bargains offered by this popular firm eclipses anything of the kind ever offered. The goods are genuine and as represented by the Bendheim's, whose stability and popularity is attested by their numberless patrons. The saleladies are alive to the wishes of all who visit this mammoth dry goods establishment and ever ready to gratify them. Tomorrow is the last day of the sale.

$2.50, $3, and $3.50 Ladies' Shoes, in black and tan, low and high cuts mostly small sizes, offered for a few days only at 79 cents. J. A. Marshall & Bro.

HANDSOME IMPROVEMENTS.

It is remarkable what difference there is now in the appearance of the Elks' Home to what it was a week ago. A short time ago Alexandria Lodge, B. P. O. E, appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. J. B. Fitzgerald, Charles B. Marshall and Louis Shuman to look after the improvements That the exalted ruler, Judge L. C. Barley, selected well is attested by results already in evidence. The committee were somewhat handicapped by the unexpected illness of Mr. Marshall, whose advice and wide experience would have lightened their burden. But notwithstanding this, old things have passed away and all things are becoming new at the Elks' Home. Masters in the art of painting are busy placing the finishing touches to the new improvements. The restaurant, which is conducted by two of Alexandria's deservedly popular young men—Messrs. John Riley and Frank C. Spinks—has not been overlooked by the committee and presents a dazzling appearance on entering. The proprietors will continue to dispense refreshing beverages to their many friends, and the beautiful surroundings will add charm to the delightful decoctions served their patrons. They deserve the measure of success they have attained.

WARRANTS FOR STEAMBOAT MEN.

Warrants charging owners of several Potomac river steamboats with conducting unlicensed bars were issued yesterday afternoon in the Police Court in Washington. They were sworn to by J. R. Sutton, of the harbor precinct, who alleges the steamers hardly clear the Washington wharves when the sale of liquor begins. According to the revenue laws the sale of liquor is allowable when such boats are once under way. The warrants are directed against Louis Phillips and David Van Cleaf, jointly; Samuel Morris and Lewis Jefferson, jointly; George Evanshire and Cuthbert W. Ridley, jointly; Patrick Hoolihan and John Callahan, jointly. The W. C. T. U. is said to be behind the issuance of the warrants.

ALEXANDRIA ARCHITECTS WIN PRIZE.

Award was made yesterday in the competition for a new prison plant to take the place of Sing Sing, N. Y., and it was announced that among the 34 designs received that submitted by Oscar G. Vogt and Milton D. Morrill, of this city, was awarded a prize. The new prison plant will occupy 30 acres, costing when completed approximately five million dollars, and will be the most complete and modern prison in the world. Among the competitors were the leading architects throughout America. Messrs. Vogt & Morrill are the architects for the First National Bank now being erected on King street, and the Fairfax Apartment house, corner of King and Columbus streets, was also built under their directions.

THE DOG WAGON.

The announcement is again made that the dog wagon, within a few days, will start on its rounds, and all dogs not provided with the required license tag and those found roaming the streets without tag or muzzle will be taken up. The animals will be held for a period of forty-eight hours, and if not called for, will be killed.

The pound in which the captured dogs will be confined will be constructed at the gas works, and the dogs not claimed within the specified time will be destroyed there.

So far the auditor has issued about 425 dog licenses.

CORPORATION COURT.

[Judge L. C. Barley presiding.]

Mary N. Brawner vs. Hattie Coffin, et als., in chancery; decree recommitting cause to Samuel P. Fisher to report the commuted value of life estate of complainant.

NO MORE DISCHARGES.

All apprehensions of more dismissals from the force of mechanics at the Washington navy yard were allayed yesterday, the ending of the fiscal year, when the statement was made that the force will suffer no further diminution. The appropriation for guns for the new battleships becomes available today. Some time will elapse, however, it is said, before the work on the cannon will begin at the gun factory.

NEW BANK BUILDING.

The brick work on the new building on King street, being erected by the First National Bank, has been commenced and will be pushed to rapid completion.

The critical and inspection committee meets on the premises daily ready and willing to give advice, which, however, is never asked. The membership is large and growing, despite the weather.

THE WEATHER.

The weather became cooler yesterday evening about 5 o'clock when a storm was threatened, but the clouds soon disappeared after a slight shower. A pretty rainbow spand the eastern heavens about 6 o'clock. Later in the night other showers fell. This morning early the temperature was cool, but the mercury soon began to ascend again, and at noon it registered 89°.

NEW ALEXANDRIA LIGHT INFANTRY.

A meeting of the new Alexandria Light Infantry will be held in McBurney's Hall at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow night, at which time the company will be formally mustered into service by Col. Jo. Lane Stern. The new company now has between 50 and 60 names on its roster.

HANDSOME WAGON.

Messrs. R. L. Myers & Co. have at their carriage and wagon establishment on north Pitt street a large and handsome delivery wagon which they have just completed for a Washington firm. The vehicle is well and strongly built and reflects much credit upon Messrs. Myers and their workmen. Much skill was required in the building of the wagon as the size was not allowed to interfere with the given weight.

CITY BONDS.

Up to this date the holders of over $400,000 of the $745,000 of the city's bonds which fall due on July 1, 1909, have agreed to exchange their holdings for the new city bonds which will from today bear four per cent. interest. The city authorities have no fear that a large majority of the old bonds will be exchanged for the new issue.

FOUR-DAY REDUCTION SALE.

Why not get one? It not only shows exceedingly good taste to wear a Diamond, but it's a good investment at the same time.

A good Diamond never loses its lustre nor its value. On the other hand stones gain in brilliancy and have been known to double in value.

An Opium Farm.

Not far from Macao, at the mouth of the Canton river, China, is an opium "farm." Standing in a courtyard is the great wooden building devoted to opium manufactures, and in its vestibules are heaps of brown balls, not unlike cocoanuts. Two coolies, seated, cut them open and remove the black, jamlike substance they contain—the compressed poppy. The outer covering is a thick layer of dried leaves. Inside the building the whole place is full of smoke, arising from a hundred charcoal fires in open earthenware "chattis," placed in a row around the walls. Over each fire rests a shallow brass pan in which bubbles a mixture of poppy and water. This mixture is strained through paper and passes on to be more carefully boiled in the next room, where the process is exactly similar. From there it goes to another room, where the sirup is reduced to the consistency of treacle over slow fires. In another building the opium is packed in tiny cans and placed in cases and sealed with the government seal.

A Banker's Generosity.

One day Humboldt was dining with Mendelssohn, the banker, and, an unusual thing for him, was very silent. His host, remarking it, observed to Humboldt that he was sure he must be ill.

"No," said Humboldt, "but I am in great trouble. Only ten minutes before leaving my apartment to come here I received from my landlord a note informing me that he had sold the house in which I reside and that I must move. The very thought drives me to despair. I really cannot bear to move again."

Mendelssohn gradually led Humboldt into conversation, during which he found time to write a note and receive an answer to it. He then took Humboldt aside and said: "By this note I learn that I am now the owner of the house in which you reside. The condition, however, upon which I have become its possessor is that you continue to occupy your apartment in it as long as you live."

Wanted a Bargain.

One day a small Cincinnati boy came to a halt before a sign over a desk in the office of the express company. It gave the rate for money orders, and after studying it for a few minutes he walked up to the cashier and said boldly:

"I want a money order."

"How large a one, my boy?" the clerk inquired benignantly.

"Well, let's see," pondered the little fellow. "The rate for a ten dollar order is 8 cents, isn't it?"

"Yes; that's right."

"Well, I want a drum and pair of roller skates and a new straw hat and some candy. Ten dollars will be enough."

Then he fished through his pockets and triumphantly placed a nickel and three coppers before the astonished clerk. It took ten minutes to convince the youngster that nothing less than $10.08 could buy a money order for $10.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Didn't Give Him a Chance.

"Say, ma," piped up little Johnny after the minister had finished his call and taken his departure, "when Mr. Meeker was here every time you stopped talkin' a minute he would start in to say somethin' an' git as fur every time as 'I dare say,' an' then you would start goin' ag'in an' talk a lot more, an' that is the way it kept on right along, an' the only thing he said all the time he was here was 'I dare say,' 'I dare say,' every few minutes."

"Well, what of it? I am not to blame for Mr. Meeker's paucity of ideas, am I?" demanded Johnny's mother, somewhat impatiently.

"I dunno 'bout that," said Johnny doubtfully, as if not exactly sure what was meant by paucity of ideas, "but anyhow, ma, you orter give him a chanst. When he started in with 'I dare say,' why didn't you keep quiet jest once, ma, an' let him go ahead an' say what he was goin' to an' have it over with?"—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

A Chapel on a Bridge.

At St. Ives, the little old Huntingdonshire town in which Oliver Cromwell lived for several years, there is a bridge spanning the lazily flowing Ouse, and on this bridge is a quaint building which at one time did duty as a chapel. The structure has been in existence for something like 500 years and was, according to local historians, originally employed as a beacon lighthouse. After that it was turned for a time into a hostel and eventually became an ordinary dwelling house. Some of the rooms in this curious building are below the level of the water in the river.

His Sorrow.

"You know that box of cigars you gave me on my birthday, dear?" said a man to his wife.

"Yes."

"Well, I took them down to the office, and some one stole them."

"I'm awfully sorry."

"So am I—for the thief!" was the cruel remark.

An Outsider.

Suitor—Your daughter, sir—well, er—that is—she told me to come to you—she says you— Pater—Quite so—I understand. Let's see, are you Mr. Bronson or Mr. Wibbles? Suitor—Why, I'm Mr. Hotchkiss!—Cleveland Leader.

Her Odd Way.

Giles—My wife is a queer woman. Miles—Indeed! Giles—Yes. Why, when she has occasion to drive a tack she uses a hammer instead of a hair-brush.—Chicago News.

Sorrow's crown of sorrow is remembering happier things.—Tennyson.

"E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Gentlemen—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. GIRL GRASPS SNAKE.

Bitten by a big copperhead snake yesterday Miss Ellie Nover is in a critical condition. She was strolling along a mountain, near Shamokin, Pennsylvania, when a prostrate tree lay before her path. She crawled over its trunk, on the top of which the snake was basking. The young woman did not notice the reptile until she threw out a hand to grasp hold of the tree to draw herself up. As quick as her flesh touched the snake the latter sunk its fangs into the girl and glided away. Miss Nover ran the whole way home, which was several miles.

Before she arrived the hand had swollen to twice its natural size, while she was distracted with great pain until a physician administered antidotes in a fight to counteract the effects of the snake poison.

Use DeWitt's Little Early Risers, pleasant little pills that are easy to take. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.
